

Botanical Society of Britain & Ireland:

Our grants programme helps you learn more about wild plants

We offer Training Grants of up to £250 so aspiring botanists can attend short plant ID courses

- ❖ You don't need to be an expert to apply
- ❖ There are short plant ID courses across Britain and Ireland – many are taught by BSBI expert botanists and referees
- ❖ There's also an online course: www.identiplant.co.uk/
- ❖ Check out the list of courses at www.bsbi.org/training-courses
- ❖ Apply for a grant to help pay for an ID course!

We offer Plant Study Grants (PSGs) of up to £1000 to botany/ plant science students

- ❖ For undergraduates planning to work on botanical projects during your final summer vacation
- ❖ PSGs cover subsistence or consumables
- ❖ Also suitable for postgraduates where the grant will provide support for all or part of the annual fees

We offer Science & Research Grants to support research that enhances our knowledge of the British & Irish flora

- ❖ These grants are aimed at PhD students, academic researchers and amateur botanists working on research
- ❖ The work should be capable of resulting in a scientific publication
- ❖ Amounts vary – up to £1000 - submit a budget as part of your application

- ❖ You don't have to be a BSBI member to apply but BSBI members are favoured if there is competition for grants
- ❖ Read reports from past recipients of BSBI grants at www.bsbi.org/news-views

BSBI grants go live on 1st January
